Hung Down With The Freaks and Ghouls

by NidoranDuran

Summary

Every year, Naranja Academy's field work 'catching class' produces some trouble, and this year is no different, as students go out into the wild to catch a unique Pokemon and end up finding more than they bargained for. All characters within are OCs owned by the commissioners of their scenes.

The vast openness of the Paldean countryside offered an endless flood of possibilities for the trainers set loose out into the terrain. Students of the Naranja Academy were given free reign out into the world as a standard, with the school's 'treasure hunt' assignments focused on having students find their own things to do and accomplish, but sometimes a more grounded and focused field assignment was required to gauge the students' performance. 'Catching class' was a once-a-year performance evaluation students were dispatched out on in groups under light supervision, with the goal of coming back to the small town they were based out of with a unique Pokemon in hand. Not just any Pokemon, but an interesting one, one rare in the region or noteworthy in some way. A test of not only the ability to catch a Pokemon, but to find one, to assess them.

Teachers were meant to be hands-off in evaluating students, there for help if asked but otherwise only to step in if necessary. Trawling the countryside, Jacq and several others were around to keep an eye on students, and to grade any captures brought to them. It was all loose and freeform enough to be a good dispatch; some teachers simply had their Rotom phones by their sides while sipping tea in a local cafe, relaxed and unbothered if students were doing fine.

Students spread out across the area with their minds on doing what they could to find something interesting. The pressure was on, with each having their own idea of what might qualify as interesting. Some students checked their phones for reports of migrating swarms not native to the area or rumours of odd sightings, others scoped out back corners and under-explored areas in hopes they could find a more typical species of Pokemon but noteworthy for some other trait about it. The broadness of the assignment left lots of room to be clever or inventive on bringing back something rewarding for their trouble, which pushed the students not to settle for the first Pokemon they came across just to catch any old Pokemon.

To that end, the expectation was to find that Pokemon and then 'defend' that capture. To provide a small written essay on the Pokemon and what made it noteworthy, so that they would have to articulate that fact, improving their ability to write about Pokemon and to prove they had truly identified something interesting.

But some had their eyes set on a specific sort of Pokemon. The school didn't really do much to dissuade students from open, blatant Pokephilia. Some of the students out in the field today were even in Jacq's 'cooperative biology' class, which everyone knew to be an excuse to fuck Pokemon for grades. For the discerning student who always prioritized getting an extremely fuckable Pokemon they could add to their repertoire of partners, the hunt was for something much more specific and scrutinous. They wanted a Pokemon they wanted to fuck as a priority, and this whole thing was going to be a wasted opportunity if they didn't find that.

Tim was that kind of trainer; not only did he want sexy Pokemon to fuck, but he had a particular inclination toward fox Pokemon, which had him beelining right into the territory he knew Zorua frequented. He already had a Zoroark he had tamed and kept on a leash, sure, but there was always room for another in his vulpine team. He'd done his research and he bounded in hopeful beyond hope that he might luck into something. He got a little bit too lucky, though; when he stumbled into the den, he was met with a Zoroark in raging heat, and while her packmates fled the noise of a human barging forward, Zoroark had other ideas, flinging herself toward Tim in ruthlessly impatient vigor. The bespectacled blond had little time to even respond to this all as she imposed herself so quickly upon him,

All of his beliefs that a Pokemon was to be dominated and kept on a leash ran into friction now with the overbearing Zoroark bouncing herself on his cock in relentless, overjoyed heat. Moans of blissful vigor and attention continued to escalate. She'd pushed him down into the dirt and now bounced on his cock in ruthless excitement, licking up along his face while rutting herself dumb on him. Her moans signaled a ravenous heat that clearly had to be vented out at any cost, the pleasures throbbing through her in messier surges of excitement, sweeping insanity throwing all sense into ruin while she moved. He was in to it, in truth, but the excess still rattled him more than he was ready for, feeling his cock in the snug embrace of the tight hole begging down tirelessly around his cock.

Zoroark left nothing in question, the overbearing and ruthless greed of wild slams forcing her down harder onto Tim's cock. She sniffed and kissed and licked all over his neck and face, a storm of aggression proving to be simply indomitable, an overbearing push into pleasures and greeds leaving no sense or mystery in these sweeping pleasures now. Urgency and confusion tore through her harder, the wild and heated chaos of giving in to this overbearing and rapturous heat now. She wanted to ride him raw, throwing herself into chaos and unapologetic bliss, so greedy as to lose herself to these mad excitements fully. Nothing could slow her down in the pursuit now of simplistic and exhausting joys. Zoroark wanted to be bred, and nothing would hold her back from that.

Giving up to the demands extracting every drop of semen she could out of him, Tim accepted the demand, offering himself up with groaning excitement, bucking upward into the snugness of her needy cunt begging now for his attention and devotion. He let every drop of hot cum fill her up to the brim, persistent and shaky but oh so very worth the trouble. He accepted it with groaning fascination, cumming up into her hole with the expectation it would butter her up for catching. A hot, bred, needy Zoroark he could put a collar around and put in her place. But as he reached for the Pokeball at his belt to catch her unawares, she swatted it out of his hand, seizing him by the wrist and forcing him to feel up her breasts instead, refusing to settle for anything but his undivided attention.

Brunette tomboy Alex wasn't looking for anything specific, she was just full of fire and gusto, and hoped she would find something. Instead, something found her, as she was bowled over by an Entei dashing through the fields, his impact coming down on her with a sudden attention that wasted little time in changing into something else. The tomboy found herself knocked down, confused beyond sense and struggling to make sense of anything, her school uniform pants torn off of her by powerful paws, and her daze shaken up by the insistence of a thick, canine cock slamming into her from behind.

"What are you?" gasped Alex. She wasn't a very book smart girl, and this legendary Pokemon from an entirely different region confounded her. Her Rotomdex buzzed up to answer her, and a gasp of, "Entei?" was an expression more of confusion than of surprise, her body shuddering now through the stormy attention and excitement of relentless slams keeping her dizzy and unfocused. "I'm having sex with a legendary Pokemon?" Panting confusion shook around in her voice while she struggled on through the stormy passion and the wild chaos of what continued to unravel her. Confusion abounded, only growing wilder as he continued his reckless use of her body. The sheer insistence behind this raw use of her body kept her in a desperate place of dire, dizzy confusion now.

Alex liked having sex with her Pokemon as a way to bond, and as Entei fucked wild moans out of her, she tried to focus on that. "You're really warm," she cooed, whining her way through the pleasures of this wild passion, a deeper insistence keeping her needing to give in to this now. She fought to hold herself together and steady through these weird attentions, excitable chaos leaving her in a state of frantic, dizzy need. Was she bonding with this legendary Pokemon? It certainly felt good; maybe she could play this into something exciting and relieving, the excitement of giving in to this weirder excitement. Pleasure throbbed across her hotter and wilder, building out of control in pursuit of something that took weirder turns than she could have ever been ready for.

If it wasn't bonding already, then it certainly felt like it when Entei's knot slammed into her. Alex let out an unearthly wail as the fire type locked in to her with his thick cock, the most swollen and intense knot she'd ever taken leaving her howling in pure excitement while she gave in to this electric passion. His cum filled her, so warm and so thick, evoking wild shivers across her body, and all Alex could do was work through them, gripping a Pokeball tightly with the hope that she could snag Entei for herself. Fortunately, he'd go willingly, proof to Alex that sex really was the best way to bond with Pokemon. She didn't need a bunch of textbooks and theory she didn't really understand. Just some good, fun sex.

Robin needed textbooks and theory. A top student who took every assignment gravely seriously, and made no exception here. Some reading on the area told her that there were some grass types nearby whose spores had unique properties, and she believed that bringing that information forward could let her flex her research ability as her angle to the assignment. Charging headfirst into it, she proved that she was maybe better at reading than planning, because those special spores ended up being what she ran headfirst into, dropping into a deep slumber on the spot. Her black hair lay messily spread out across the ground, and her glasses were halfway off of her face while she slept in a compromising position underneath the looming presence of the Toedscruel whose spores she'd breathed in a bit too much.

Now, deep in her slumber, Robin was vulnerable to his tentacles, which got underneath her body, fondling her slim form while his long snout pressed to her pussy, devouring her while she snored away in undignified helplessness. The fondling of her body couldn't break her deep sleep, a trap that kept her in the danger of the extra-potent effects. It ignited her body with a pure need, and even if she wasn't conscious enough to recognize it, her body relished these feelings, sensations sweeping madly over her with an unreal sort of passion, a desire and a hunger she was slowly being worn down by, wound up with a senseless sort of passion. Her helpless and weak body lay in complete acceptance now of attentions scrutinizing and overbearing, pushing against her with the pleasure and the carelessness of something that she could do absolutely nothing about.

The steady suction and wet attention paid to her pussy made her body twist a little bit, subtle gestures that never broke into waking realization or any sort of intense-enough jostle. Her body was made sensitive and limp by the spores, insisting upon her something that continued to hold her tightly in place, thoughts drowned out by the simple and passionate feeling of deeper lust, a desire and a pleasure that held tightly to her. So much sensation was simply lost, something she was spared and kept from, isolated from the pleasures that might have somehow made this intense misery something a little more palatable.

At least it spared her embarrassment amid the tentacles rubbing against her, the prodding and molestation, the attention to her pussy that evoked wilder excitement building inside of her. Cluelessly unaware of her body, she wouldn't know about the orgasm she was eaten out to by the wild Pokemon who put her to sleep. Unfortunately, it would leave her stripped of any context for why she'd wake up covered head to toe in stringy ropes of cum from the tentacles blasting all over her body in a complete disregard for her dignity. She was covered in it and simply left there, ripe for other grass types in the area to come contribute to her unwitting and unrecorded 'research'.

A wild Quaquaval was a very abnormal find, one that Vida was excited to capture and add to a team she made sure were all very well 'tended to'. Vida snuck forward, a baggy blue and yellow sweater set over her school uniform, dark skinned face lit up with a smile behind her messy black hair. All it took was a throw of a Pokeball to catch him unaware and make it work, and in her excitement, she let out a triumphant yell that maybe carried a bit too loudly for someone about to jump her Pokemon's bones. Indeed, the first thing she did once she sent him out was bend over and offer herself up to her new Quaquaval, saying, "Let's get to know each other!"

What she didn't expect was for her exclamation to attract attention. Raifort, one of the teachers observing, was drawn toward the sound of her student. She didn't know who it was, she just followed the voice, stumbling in surprise upon her student filled up with duck dick. Quaquaval fucked a standing Vida from behind, his hands all over her body and his tongue shoved into her mouth, the pressure and passion of devoted lusts pushing carelessly forward, indulging in the wicked passion to keep indulging in. "Vida!" gasped Raifort, stumbled in to the shock of this strange sight, one where all Vida could do was flail around in a panic, at least until Quaquaval pulled her arms behind her back, fucking her into a shakier wreck right in front of her teacher.

But as Raifort watched the cute teen taking every inch of that Pokemon cock, her hand strayed, slipping down into her pants and rubbing with firmer intensity. "A Quaquaval is a very rare Pokemon to find in the wild," she purred, drawing in closer, caressing Vida's cheek and letting her fingers work more insistently at the growing lust inside of her. "I think you're going to do very well on this assignment."

Vida met her teacher's gaze, shivering in pure embarrassment, watching as she touched herself to the sight of her being drilled into from behind, and her head spun in a wild and dizzy burst of excitement, the pleasures dragging her slowly into obsessive focus and an overwhelming, questionable need to lose herself. This was all getting away from her now, with Quaquaval's thrusts rattling her to her. She was ashamed and turned on in equal measure, a raging shiver of pure frustration while the cock ravaged her, pounding in with quicker, greedier attention. Quaquaval came inside of her, and she was left to thrash in his strong arms while shuddering pleasures tore across her. Cum filled her up through the shaky and pulsating pleasures driving her wild, a compelling thrill maddening and wicked. Her eyes remained locked with her teacher's, and a growing certainty in her warned her that she was about to get more than a look.

If she'd already done well on her assignment, then this wouldn't count as sleeping with a teacher for grades, right?

Reina would settle for nothing less than a dark type. Her jaw-length black hair had bangs covering half of her face, and her striking, purple eyes matched her purple lipstick, a growing theme around her commitment to her favorite type. All the big famous type specialist trainers committed to the aesthetic, and Reina would be no different, with her bratty attitude and a startling know-it-all tendency for a girl who knew nothing gladly isolating her off with her gloomy looks to be by her damn self. She was more than fine with that, on the prowl for some special dark type Pokemon she could bring to show off and prove she had caught the coolest and most interesting thing she could find.

Too bad she found a Slowking instead.

Reina fucking hated psychic Pokemon, and had even cussed out the 'gross oaf' she'd stumbled on and yelled at him to get out of the way. But now, her eyes were blank, and she slammed her ass down onto the Pokemon's cock, babbling with mindless ecstasy while she worked atop him. Her mind had been shut down, the overbearing pressure leaving her in a state of automatic motion, unable to do much but follow the commands made of her. Her body moved with euphoric, ecstatic motions that stood in dead contrast to how listless her expression was, how vapid she seemed. Reina could not think and could not move without the will of the Pokemon guiding her along, the persistence of this sloppy passion keeping her trapped now in maniacal and baffled attentions.

Relaxing back and groping her body while she worked atop his lap. Slowking savoured the drastic and shameful plunge into submission to him, probing about in her mind, feeling the anger toward psychic types, the bitchy attitude, everything that made her the most prime victim for this unceremonious ending. Depraved confusions bubbling across her, an invitation into deeper shame and worry while he used her. In total control of her body, he could puppet her around, keep her doing as he wished, and from that position, he intended to be her Pokemon. The true master. The one in control from the Pokeball of his new fucktoy, whose shuddering, tight body offered him a satisfaction he reasonably wanted only more of.

With the grip on her mind now tight, Reina gave up to the quivering peak of an incredible, ecstatic orgasm ripping up through her body, her moans sounding empty and dejected now while Slowking's cum filled her up. Her body ached with incredible pleasure that she didn't understand enough to register it, while cum filled her to the brim. She captured the Slowking, her disgust for psychic types about to meet the clashing reality of how her mind was no longer her own. She had a master now, and her dreams of being a dark type specialist were about to give way to being psychic type fuckmeat.

"It's fine, your whole thing is ghosts now, right? I hung out here with friends a while ago, there's tons of spooky stuff!" Solana led her sister, Carmen, deeper into an old, abandoned cabin in the woods. The two sisters were total opposites; Carmen was stylish and fashionable, with a nice tan and wavy brown hair highlighted with blonde, with an expensive pair of sunglasses that she wasn't going to take off even in the darkness of the unlit cabin, where the windows where too dusted over to let the sun in. Solana was a goth so pale she may have never seen sunlight before, with a 60-40 split in her hair of black giving way to red at her hair part, with blonde in her heavy fringe bangs. She'd painted some red hearts onto her cheeks to clash with her dour black eye make-up, while her pink cat ear headband, studded collar, and myriad piercings stood out against her school uniform.

"My 'whole thing' is not ghosts," Carmen muttered. "I just... gain a lot of followers when I go ghost hunting. It's fine. It's because I'm so hot, and hot girls don't really care about this spooky stuff. No offense." Carmen looked down at her feet, sighing to herself. "There's so many toys around here. Did kids live in this place?"

"We think so. My friends want to bring a ouija board here next time to see if there's some dead kid spirits we can talk to."

"Your friends creep me out." Carmen took a misstep in her designer heels and nearly tripped over a stuffed animal, cursing as she took a crash to the floor from the lack of balance, kicking the toy back toward her sister in the process.

"Oh, this is cute," Solana said, reaching down to pick it up. "I don't remember this one last time, check it out. Some kind of homemade plush Pikachu." The ratty stuffed animal with its drooping ear and its painted-on, silly face was adorable to her as she held it close. "Take a picture of me from down there with it!" she giggled, nestling her cheek in against it, disturbing the cheap cloth layer set over the main body. "I'll add it to my plushie collection at home."

Carmen groaned, not wanting to take a picture of her sister while reeling from the impact. Lifting herself up, she groaned her way through the frustration, only for her eyes to fall in panic at the realization that something underneath the cloth. Glowing, furious eyes. It took a second for Carmen to remember something she'd seen about a ghost Pokemon that went around with a ratty, creepy Pikachu costume, and by then it was already too late. "Wait, Solana, that's not a Pikachu, that's--"

The sudden emergence of dark tendrils from underneath the rag came on too fast for either girl to manage, spectral tentacles that seized hold of the sisters and dragged them in to its clutches. The Mimikyu broke out of Solana's grasp while hamming his tentacles into their mouths and down their shorts. In a heartbeat, their hunt for a Pokemon had turned into an upside-down mess of ghost tendrils slamming into them. Insistent, ruthless strokes worked with aggressive pressure to fill them up with the tentacles, to use them in vengeful, fright-inducing anger. He'd hidden away, only to be trampled on and squeezed by someone who thought he was a stuffed animal. That left him with something to lash out over, and relentlessly used sisters now. He would not be disrespected, and proved it now with harsh claims that filled all six holes he could reach, vicious and ruthless in how hard he fucked.

Slumped in against one another, the sisters gagged in unison on the harsh attentions wearing at them, the persistent chaos of shames and frustrations continuing to ravage them. Solana was a raging Pokephile and Carmen was ashamed of how all of her ghost hunting adventures ended with her getting cummed in, and both found plenty of cause to try and shirk away in discomfort while getting used by this Mimikyu at the same time. Neither wanted to cross a line like this, but they couldn't do anything to stop it, forced to stare at one another while they got used, Solana's ear headband and Carmen's sunglasses both knocked off their heads in all the chaos. They could do nothing to stop this, melting into deeper shame while these senseless attentions continued their deep, ugly pressures upon them.

This was Carmen's world, while Solana had never felt anything more forceful than a frisky Houndoom knotting session, but with their mouths plugged up with tentacle cock, there was no sharing wisdom of how to get through something like this. They were both so full of tentacles, these cocks challenging them with brutal and relentless vigor teaching them to give up to the drastic shame awaiting them. They plunged in to this dramatic mess in wilder embarrassment, faltering under the weight of these ugly sensations. Every motion was rough, seemingly intentionally so. The roughness was and the blunt pressures seemed made to punish them, extra harsh to drive home a message, even if the girls were gradually losing enough grip on the chaos taking them to actually understand any message.

Their orgasms were undignified bursts of unwanted ecstasy, a pleasure sending them into quivering, thrashing shame. Inky cum flooded into their holes, leaving the girls choking on the loads painting their throats. Mimikyu let loose every drop of cum into them, violating their holes with his cocks and reveling in this greed before pulling out and letting the sisters collapse to the ground. Then, he dashed off in his swift escape, out of the cabin, leaving them behind in search of a hiding place where he wouldn't run in to any trouble.

Solana lay there violated, never having thought something so cute and spooky could do that to her. Carmen, even more furious, had once more been fucked by a ghost, and this time she wasn't even streaming it!

Lucas was a boy with short black hair, an ordinary build, and a love for knocking up his Gardevoir. He didn't move with any specific interest in nabbing a sexy looking Pokemon he could breed, but only to make sure he got the assignment done; he was absolutely on the prowl for a hope that he could find a Pokemon he could cum inside of. A passing grade? Great. A new pussy to pump raw loads into? So much better. He kept his eyes open and his feet moving, and when he crept up upon a female Cerulede plucking at a berry bush, he didn't even think. A human-shaped Pokemon was all he needed to see; the peculiarity and novelty of a wild Cerulede for the purposes of his assignment was an incidental, not even on his mind.

And when a minute later, he was mating pressing his new catch, her body twisting underneath his greedy efforts in a wild fit of shameless aggression. Persistent and sloppy hunger carried him to want more of this, drilling down into her snug hole. A toasty fire type pussy was an amazing pleasure, the sweet excitement to keep wanting more of. Her writhing, shivering pleasures carried him on wilder, the pressure to continue seeking more of, losing his mind to these unrelenting and exciting joys now, a gleeful spectacle that had him losing his focus and control to the pleasures carrying him on ever rougher. This was an amazing mess of feelings to succumb to, a throbbing chaos he continued to revel in, indulging in hotter passions while he worked at her satisfaction.

Cerulede's legs pressed against his sides tightly, a steady burn of desire leaving her grinding away in dizzier passion, craving the relief and release of wilder want. With a human cock stuffing into her offered up an ever wilder and more wicked heat, shameless pleasures keeping her giving in deeper, faltering without sense through the pleasure now. She was startled by this, her new trainer upon her--having a trainer at all--but feeling incredible pleasure tear across her with single-minded fascination. The pleasure drowned out her confusions and her thoughts, an escalating chase that had her losing herself.

Her eager surrender had Lucas feeling great. "I'm going to get you pregnant before I've even used you in a fight," he said proudly. "Time for a Charcadet egg for my Pokedex. Fuck!" Throwing his head back, he slammed down into Cerulede with a few more mad, unrelenting thrusts, firing off a hot, gooey eruption of cum deep into Cerulede's pussy. He reveled in this shameless passion, in the heat and the hunger and the wicked lust of losing himself. Hot, gooey cum filled Cerulede up, a creampie that had her wailing in joy. She didn't even know her trainer's name now, but he'd already flooded her with his seed and knocked her up. That was how Lucas liked it most.

Emilia was known to a lot of her classmates as a cringy weirdo who pretended to have psychic powers. She'd dyed her jaw-length hair purple and wore slim little shades set on the bridge of her nose, with a cape made of colourful stripes on one side and opened eyes on the other. Her favorite hat, a pastel gakuran, had been thrown into the dirt by a bunch of Team Star bullies who singled out the weird girl as their victim. They were looking to disrupt the challenge, and some of the dozens of students out in the wild had been flagged down by a group, with Emilia being an unlucky one singled by a bunch of boys and girls whose cocks were promptly shoved into her holes every which way.

"If you could see the future you must have known we'd gangbang you," teased a girl throatfucking her with vicious, relentless attentions while she drooled all over her cock. "Did you see it? Did you dream about us fucking you?"

"Gluk gluk gluk," was all Emilia came back with.

"It was probably the hottest dream she ever had because someone finally wanted to fuck her," said a boy balls deep in her ass, thrusting down into her and forcing her in turn onto the boy buried in her pussy. Two more cocks demanded stroking, and Emilia was left with absolutely no choice. The surging confusions carried them on in to something messier and dizzier.

These bullies were ruthless, making a joke of how they used her, of her 'psychic powers'. She was a weird nerd girl, and nobody was ever going to say they found her cute, but gangbangng her into shame and misery was worth it. She shook through the embarrassment of degrading and disrespectful attentions. These bullies made her feel so ashamed, so confused, like a loser who was only being touched because she was free hole for a handful of boys who could make a joke out of even having sex with her. She'd hoped she could find a cool psychic or ghost type Pokemon she could catch and add to her team. She'd seen it in a very real vision she totally had.

Instead, her very real visions were mocked. "Get ready, my dick is casting future sight! It's predicting you're going to be fucking pregnant!" The bully in her pussy erupted into her, an unprotected load amid the shuddering, shivering shame that had her hopeless. Embarrassing and dizzy heat swept through her, and she was a shaky wreck lost to the unreal panic of this all, a shuddering embarrassment she was doomed by now. Cum pumped into all her holes and all over her body, and she had no choice but to give up to the rapturous shame of giving in, her climax burning across her.

Worst of all was that she was pretty sure she liked being bullied this way.

Lilith was another girl with a target on her back, but not for being cringe. She was a total bitch who had a tendency to hold girls down while her Pokemon fucked their brains out, getting off in sadistic joy while doing so. Her olive skin and leather vest set over her school uniform were signatures of the shameless girl, who was probably the most feared bully not involved in Team Star, a girl who wasn't even that mean outside of when she was assisting in Pokemon rape. The punk girl was bound to draw some attention, and a few Team Star members she'd even set to her Tauros's cock were out to hunt her down and commit her to something ugly and reckless.

Now, she was pinned underneath the Arcanine of another girl, who screamed, "How's it feel, you fucked up bitch? How does it feel after what you did to me?" She had tears in her eyes, her other Team Star friends holding her steady while trying to support her standing upright in spite of her shaking.

"Feels fucking great, this fat knot is going to be just what my pussy needs," sneered Lilith, holding up a bitchy affront to all these attentions. With gritted teeth and a harsh attitude, Lilith was out to get hers, thrashing about in back and forth chaos while the Arcanine fucked her. His big, heavy body was a lot, but nothing she was afraid of taking. "Have you been fucking this big boy? Good taste."

"You psycho bitch!" screamed the bully. "No, you're going to regret this. You fucked up-- you're lying. You hate this."

Smug and defiant smirks bore against this attention, with Lilith stubbornly insisting that she could handle this, the dark insanity of deeper lusts that came on with worrying misery. She was determined to hold on strong, snug and furious while she took on the worst this Pokemon could offer. "You're making your Pokemon rape me; the only difference is I'm enjoying it, but hey guess what? You're just as bad as me now!" She kept a mocking, almost chipper demeanor while throwing herself now in to this all, refusing to hold back while her thoughts continued their wild slide down. She was close, feeling the knot threatening her.

When she came, she was loud about it. Unrepentant. Arcanine's fat knot filled her up, and she cackled through the defiance and madness of what she had won, holding back nothing while she gave in to this ravenous chaos. Unwavering and furious, she proved herself too stubborn to let up. Calling out to them, she moaned, "Who else wants to show me their Pokemon? I bet they'll like my pussy more than yours!" As the bullies sent out a Gabite and an Annihilape, her eyes lit up. "Fuck, I wish more of my victims weren't cowards. Come on, ruin me!"

Methodical and calculating in her approach to the assignment, Vivien didn't know what she was looking for, but was sure she would know when she found it. Adjusting her side-swept purple hair and matching shades as she trawled through some windy plains, she had her eyes on anything that might catch her interest. She had the foresight to at least understand the risk of being hypnotized, a fate surely befalling plenty of other students, so when she saw a pack of Ralts family Pokemon, of Gallade and Gardevoir and Kirlia all moving as a unit, she was very aware of the dangers. She did her best to approach with care, to not do anything risky, in hopes she could catch something.

She ended up hypnotized anyway.

Stuck on her knees, she had her hands around the cocks of a Gallade and a Gardevoir, mindlessly sucking off the Pokemon and herself in to the temptation and the fever of these wicked attentions. Her empty mind buzzed with simple urgencies, a desire her into erratic lust while she worked back and forth, desperately sucking the thick cocks in front of her. Her own legs were spread out, allowing a curious Kirlia who had never blown a human before to suck down Vivien's cock in turn. The orally fixated trainer wasn't even aware enough of her surroundings to appreciate all the greedy excitement taking her, a sloppy back and forth of haze and passion building while she gave in to these rapturous excitements now.

The two Pokemon dicks she moved back and forth throbbed in her hands. She worked hard at the pleasures demanding that she give in deeper. Automatic gestures and motions kept her working with careful gestures at the deeper insistence, insanity and passion she wanted to give up to, delving in to this hotter pressure and insistence. Subservient oral pleasure compelled her along quicker, imposing the dizzying pleasure to keep chasing, an insistent desire to continue building up to, sloppier pleasure insisting upon her the madder fascination. The pleasure of something sweetly mindless carried her into deeper, and with her own cock being worked over by the cute Kirlia below, she was open to the reason-eclipsing passion of just letting herself give in fully and deeper now.

She was empty but she was at peace. Orally fixated on a normal day, Vivien sucked with automatic steadiness, Pokemon cocks keeping her feeling wonderful and urged into pleasures and desires she couldn't escape. When pleasure came, she took it on without understanding it, an innate shiver surging across her, delightful and heated and so intensely hunger-inducing, leaving her to falter in the face now of these beautiful desires. She came in Kirlia's mouth and took two loads all over her face, sweetly empty-headed and moaning out in oral hunger for more. Fortunately, more cocks awaited her mouth, and more curious Kirlia and Ralts inched happily toward her cock to explore.

By the time the sun was starting to set, most of the students made their ways back to the teachers. Some had their clothes clearly disheveled. Some smelled of sex. Some had Pokemon hanging off of them in an all too blatant show of what happened. Pokephile returners were so common that teachers didn't even blink an eye at that.

There were other, more pressing concerns. Like the fact that there were always students who didn't come back. The true point of students coming to show their Pokemon to a teacher initially wasn't to solidify their answer and avoid cheating--though that was helpful--but to note off who did and didn't make it back, so that search parties could be sent out. Every year, ten or so students had to be peeled out of packs of wild Pokemon or broken out of deep hypnotic trances in catching incidents and sexual experiments gone wrong, and once night came, rangers and safety crews could commence the hunt for missing teens hopelessly being the fucktoys of wild Pokemon.
